

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

What's at stake here is not just corporate control of the news, but the idea of open democracy itself. Media control by a few companies, working closely with government, is one of the major steps toward fascism.